DID YOU KNOW—

That only three passers in history have thrown for more than 4,000 yards in a season? Until 1979, only Joe Namath of the Jets had passed the barrier. In 1979, San Diego's Dan Fouts threw for 4,082 yards while last year, Fouts (4,715) and Cleveland's Brian Sipe (4,132) each turned the trick.

Quarterbacks will breathe easier without Ken Houston covering their receivers.
